WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Colleagues and Industry Partners,

We are pleased to announce “What is New in Respiratory Medicine”, taking place October 15–17 in Rhodes, Greece, at the Rodos Palace Convention Center.

This year is particularly significant, as in addition to the distinguished international invited speakers who traditionally shape the scientific program, the congress will also welcome a significant number of international participants who have already expressed their interest in traveling to Rhodes, giving the meeting a strong international dimension and reaffirming its original vision to invest in global participation.

The 2026 program will feature high-level scientific sessions, expert-led discussions, and practical insights focusing on innovation, therapies, advanced diagnostics, and future trends in respiratory medicine.

Industry partnership is essential to the success of this meeting, and we look forward to your continued support and participation this year.

Important Notes

- A limited number of sponsored session slots are available.
- Sponsored sessions are available to Sponsors, with priority given to Principal Sponsors.

Meet the Experts - Open Space Sessions

Meet the Experts Sessions are short, high-impact interactive sessions designed to enhance meaningful engagement between delegates and industry partners.

These sessions will take place during the coffee breaks in a dedicated and specially designed area within the exhibition hall, following international best practices adopted at leading medical congresses abroad.

Each session will have a duration of 10 minutes, allowing attendees to participate without disrupting the scientific programme.

This format offers a focused and intimate setting where participants can engage directly with company representatives and invited experts

This innovative initiative adds educational value to the exhibition space while offering sponsors a modern and effective way to connect with a highly engaged audience.

Important note: Upon request, the sessions can be delivered in a silent format, with the necessary technical equipment provided by the organizer. This option is subject to an additional fee and offers companies a flexible and premium way to enhance engagement while maintaining an optimal exhibition environment.
